

3. Defendant Chowins has been fraudulently joined in this case in order to defeat federal diversity jurisdiction. Absent the fraudulently joined claims against Chowins, this case meets the requirements for federal jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1332.

4. As set forth in further detail below, this action is timely removed within one year of the commencement of this action and within thirty days i) of the date on which State Farm received a paper “from which it may first be ascertained that the case is one which is or has become removable,” 28 U.S.C. § 1446(b), and ii) of the date State Farm was able “to intelligently ascertain removability.” Huffman v. Saul Holdings Ltd. P’ship, 194 F.3d 1072, 1078 (10th Cir. 1999).

5. Defendant Chowins consents to this removal through his undersigned counsel.

NATURE OF THE SUIT

6. Plaintiffs’ lawsuit arises out of a claim they made under their homeowners insurance policy for damage to their home allegedly sustained from a tornado on or about May 20, 2013. Plaintiffs have brought claims against State Farm for breach of contract and breach of the duty of good faith and fair dealing.

7. Plaintiffs have also brought the following claims against both State Farm and Chowins: 1) Negligence in the Procurement of Insurance, which they allege occurred by Chowins selling them a State Farm insurance policy that supposedly did not serve to actually replace their home and personal property when their home was destroyed by a covered loss, and that did not accurately reflect the replacement cost of Plaintiffs’ dwelling; 2) Constructive Fraud and Negligent Misrepresentation, which Plaintiffs allege occurred by Chowins supposedly misrepresenting to Plaintiffs the insurance coverage sold to them; 3) Negligence, which appears to be a restatement of the claim for Negligent Procurement with the added allegation that Defendants failed to conduct an appropriate underwriting analysis, which supposedly resulted in issuing and/or renewing a policy of insurance for Plaintiffs that did not provide appropriate and adequate coverage; and 4) Breach of Fiduciary Duty, which consists simply of conclusory allegations that Defendants “breached their fiduciary duties owed to the Plaintiffs.” See Ex. 1.

8. These fraudulently joined claims against Chowins lack both factual and legal basis. To demonstrate such, State Farm has sought for many months to take Plaintiffs’ depositions in order to secure the testimony and admissions that would show the baselessness of the asserted claims against the agent. Plaintiffs’ counsel, however, have prevented State Farm from doing so, and indeed have refused to make Plaintiffs available for deposition until after the passage of a year in an attempt to prevent removal of this case to federal court. However, as set forth below, Plaintiffs’ stratagem to preclude removal cannot succeed, and indeed the statements of Plaintiffs’ counsel during the transcribed hearing in this matter on July 21, 2014, and actions subsequent thereto, have made this action properly removable at this time.

BASIS OF REMOVAL

9. State Farm was and is a corporation organized in Illinois, with its principal place of business in Bloomington, McLean County, Illinois. Defendant Chowins is a citizen of Oklahoma, but has been fraudulently joined in this action in order to defeat diversity jurisdiction. Upon information and belief, the Plaintiffs are citizens of Cleveland County, Oklahoma.

10. This Court has original jurisdiction over the matters made the basis of this lawsuit pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332 in that (1) the Plaintiffs are Oklahoma citizens; (2) Plaintiffs are completely diverse from State Farm; (3) Plaintiffs have fraudulently joined Chowins, in that the Plaintiffs have a legally insufficient basis for their claims against this non-diverse Defendant, and; (4) the requisite amount in controversy has been satisfied on the face of Plaintiffs' Complaint.

11. Venue is proper because Cleveland County is located within the Western District of Oklahoma. 28 U.S.C. § 1441(a).

12. The amount in controversy exceeds the sum of $75,000.00, exclusive of interest and costs. As evidentiary support for this allegation, State Farm relies upon Plaintiffs' Complaint, in which Plaintiffs state they are seeking damages in excess of $75,000.00 for their causes of action. See Ex. 1 ¶¶ 19, 25, 40, 49, 61, 66 and Prayer for Relief.

13. The claims and allegations made by Plaintiffs in this case are virtually identical to those made in a case entitled Nathaniel Neill and Alicia Neill v. State Farm Fire and Casualty Company and Jack Stout, which was filed by the same plaintiffs' counsel in the District Court of Woodward County, Oklahoma in 2012. A copy of the Petition filed in the Neill case is attached hereto as Exhibit 3. As in this case, the Petition filed by the Neill plaintiffs purported to assert claims not only against State Farm, but also against the Neills' non-diverse insurance agent, Jack Stout. The only differences between the Neill Petition and the Complaint filed by Plaintiffs here are: (1) the identity of the insurance agent; (2) the date of the tornado that “heavily damaged” the respective plaintiffs’ property; and (3) the inclusion in the Neill case of a claim for injunctive relief that plaintiffs’ counsel chose not to plead here. Other than those differences, the allegations of the Complaint filed by Plaintiffs in this case track the allegations of the Neill Petition paragraph by paragraph. Compare Ex. 1 with Ex. 3.

14. A defendant’s “right of removal cannot be defeated by a fraudulent joinder of a resident defendant having no real connection with the controversy.” Wilson v. Republic Iron & Steel Co., 257 U.S. 92, 97 (1921). Defendants can prove fraudulent joinder by showing that either: (1) Plaintiffs’ jurisdictional allegations are fraudulent and made in bad faith; or (2) plaintiff has no possibility of recovery against the non-diverse defendant. Slover v. Equitable Variable Life Ins. Co., 443 F. Supp. 2d 1272, 1279 (N.D. Okla. 2006). If a defendant can show that a non-diverse defendant was fraudulently joined, the parties will be completely diverse and the Court may exercise subject matter jurisdiction over the case. See American Nat’l Bank & Trust Co. of Sapulpa, v. Bic Corp., 931 F.2d 1411, 1412 (10th Cir. 1991) (“If, as defendant suggests, plaintiffs joined the Oklahoma residents without good faith, defendant may remove on the grounds of fraudulent joinder.”).

15. The procedure for removal set out in 28 U.S.C. § 1446 provides at least two windows during which a case may be removed: (1) during the first thirty days after the defendant receives the original pleading, or (2) during the first thirty days after the defendant receives a paper “from which it may first be ascertained that the case is one which is or has become removable” if “the case stated by the initial pleading is not removable.” 28 U.S.C. § 1446(b). The removal period does not begin to run until the defendant is able “to intelligently ascertain removability so that in his petition for removal he can make a simple and short statement of the fact.” Huffman v. Saul Holdings Ltd. P’ship, 194 F.3d 1072, 1078 (10th Cir. 1999). Where federal jurisdiction is based on diversity of citizenship, Section 1446(b) provides that the case generally may not be removed more than one year after commencement of the action. 28 U.S.C. § 1446(b).

16. State Farm believed from the outset that the Neill plaintiffs had fraudulently joined the insurance agent in order to defeat federal diversity jurisdiction. The pleading itself, however, was indeterminate in this regard. See Neill v. State Farm Fire and Cas. Co., W.D. Okla. Case No. 13-cv-627-D, Order dated Jan. 21, 2014 (Doc. 11), copy attached hereto as Ex. 4 (rejecting plaintiffs’ argument that State Farm’s notice of removal was untimely and concluding that the fraudulent joinder of defendant Stout could not be ascertained from the initial pleading).

17. When a defendant raises specific allegations of fraudulent joinder, the court may pierce the pleadings and consider evidence such as affidavits and deposition testimony. Smoot v. Chicago, Rock Island & Pac. R.R. Co., 378 F.2d 879, 881-82 (10th Cir. 1967); Cavallini v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 44 F.3d 256, 263 (5th Cir. 1995). Accordingly, in order to establish that Stout had been fraudulently joined in the Neill case, State Farm took the depositions of the Neill plaintiffs. See Neill, W.D. Okla.

Case No. 13-cv-627-D, Defendant State Farm Fire and Casualty Co.'s Notice of Removal (Doc. 1) at 5-7, copy attached hereto as Ex. 5.

18. On June 14, 2013 State Farm removed the Neill case to the Western District of Oklahoma, asserting based on its depositions of the plaintiffs that defendant Stout had been fraudulently joined. Id. The Neill plaintiffs filed a motion to remand in which they argued, among other things, that State Farm had not shown that defendant Stout had been fraudulently joined. See Ex. 4 at 3. District Court Judge Timothy D. DeGiusti rejected that argument, finding that the deposition testimony of the plaintiffs "shows there is no possibility that Plaintiffs would be able to establish a cause of action" against Stout. Id. at 4.

19. In September of 2013 – approximately three months after State Farm removed the Neill case to federal court based on the Neill plaintiffs' deposition testimony – Plaintiff filed this virtually identical case against State Farm and Plaintiffs' non-diverse insurance agent, Chowins.

20. While certain of Plaintiffs' causes of action are facially defective, given the vagueness of other claims, such as Plaintiffs' claims of fraud and misrepresentation, removal was not reasonably possible solely on the face of the Complaint. Thus, as in the Neill case, State Farm sought to take the depositions of the Plaintiff in order for State Farm to intelligently ascertain and establish the removability of this case. Plaintiffs' counsel were well aware of State Farm's intention to remove this case once it took Plaintiffs' depositions and obtained the information necessary to establish that Defendant Chowins had been fraudulently joined.

21. State Farm began by filing a Motion to Dismiss in the state court which sought, as alternative relief if dismissal were not granted, an order requiring Plaintiffs to amend their Complaint to assert their fraud/misrepresentation claims with specificity – relief Plaintiffs specifically opposed in the state proceeding and which the trial judge denied. Exhibit 6 (Motion to Dismiss).

22. Thereafter, and for many months, State Farm repeatedly requested dates for Plaintiffs' depositions, and unilaterally served deposition notices when dates were not forthcoming.<sup>1</sup> Ex. 7 (December 27, 2013 letter requesting Plaintiffs' depositions); Ex. 8 (January 14, 2013 letter enclosing Notice for Plaintiffs' depositions); Ex. 9 (January 21, 2014 e-mail from Plaintiffs' counsel agreeing to postpone depositions and reschedule by agreement after a Court hearing on the appointment of a Discovery Master); Ex. 10 (February 5, 2014 letter from State Farm memorializing agreement to abate deposition notices on condition of scheduling depositions by agreement, starting with the Plaintiffs' depositions, to begin in early March 2014); Ex. 11 (March 7, 2014 letter from State Farm noting agreement on depositions had been breached); Ex. 12 (June 6, 2014 letter again requesting Plaintiffs' depositions, as agreement on depositions had been breached); Ex. 13 (June 25, 2014 letter from State Farm acknowledging agreement by Plaintiffs' counsel to begin depositions by agreement, but enclosing notice for firm date).

<sup>1</sup> This case was consolidated with several other cases pending in Cleveland County for discovery purposes under the case Misner et al. v. State Farm Fire and Casualty Company et al., Case No. CJ-2013-1050, on or about January 8, 2014, so several instances of communications in this case were made under that consolidated case caption.

23. Then, on July 1, 2014, State Farm's counsel received a letter from Plaintiffs' counsel advising that they were completely unavailable for depositions until late September 2014 – by which time, of course, the one-year deadline for removal of the case set forth in Section 1446(b) would have passed for most of the consolidated cases. Ex. 14.

24. On July 3, 2014, State Farm filed a Motion to Compel Depositions. Ex.15. In that Motion, State Farm made clear it believed counsel for Plaintiffs was attempting to “run the clock” on the removal of this case and the other cases with which it had been consolidated. Id. at 4.

25. In the hearing on the Motion to Compel, the state court judge agreed with State Farm's position that it was entitled to take the Plaintiffs' deposition within a year of filing, and referred the matter to the Discovery Master. Ex. 16 at 10-11, 22-23. After a discovery conference with the parties' counsel, the Discovery Master issued a report and recommendation in which he expressly recognized both the need for State Farm to depose the Plaintiffs in the consolidated cases in order to establish fraudulent joinder and that those depositions needed to take place before the one-year anniversary for removal purposes; the Discovery Master recommended the first round of Plaintiffs' depositions be taken on August 1.<sup>2</sup> Ex. 17.

<sup>2</sup> The first three rounds of depositions would have included the depositions of the Plaintiffs in Timothy Misner and Rachel Misner v. State Farm Fire and Casualty Company and Debbie Shepherd Insurance Agency, Inc., Case No. CJ-2013-1050; Jonathon Roggow and Theresa Roggow v. State Farm Fire and Casualty Company and Chuck Davis, Case No. CJ-2013-1106, and; Mary DeJulius v. State Farm Fire and Casualty Company and Michael Garey, Case No. CJ-2013-1173. These cases have now

26. On July 21, 2014, the state court judge held a hearing on State Farm's Motion to Compel. During that hearing, Plaintiffs' counsel again represented that they were "totally unavailable" for depositions until the end of September due to trial schedules. Ex. 18 at 13-14. Moreover, Plaintiffs' counsel then asserted that State Farm did not need to depose the Plaintiffs in order to remove the case based on fraudulent joinder. Id. at 8-10, 13-17. Indeed, in order to persuade the state court to deny State Farm's motion, Plaintiffs' counsel took the position that State Farm has "more than what they need to go remove this action if they are so inclined" (id. at 10), that there was "no prejudice to State Farm" if it was not able to take the depositions prior to the one-year removal deadline, that State Farm is "entitled to remove" (id. at 15) and that "it is not even necessary for State Farm" to take the depositions in order to establish fraudulent joinder (id. at 17). Based on the statements made by Plaintiffs' counsel, the Court refused to compel the depositions of Plaintiffs prior to the September 30, 2014 one-year removal deadline. Ex. 18 at 20; Ex. 19 (July Summary Order).

27. Subsequent to the July 21, 2014 Summary Order, State Farm learned that the August 2014 trial date that Plaintiffs' counsel had argued made them unavailable for depositions before the end of September had been stricken. Ex. 20 (Docket Sheet – Joe Banks v. USAA, Case No. CJ-2013-00012, continued by agreement on August 6, 2014).

been removed to this District Court under the following numbers: Timothy Misner and Rachel Misner v. State Farm Fire and Casualty Company and Debbie Shepherd Insurance Agency, Inc., Case No. CJ-2013-1050; Mary DeJulius v. State Farm Fire and Casualty Company and Michael Garey, Case No. 14-cv-00889-C, and; Jonathan and Theresa Roggow v. State Farm Fire and Casualty Company and Chuck Davis, Case No. 14-cv-00888-M.

The same day, State Farm's counsel requested immediate dates for Plaintiffs' depositions prior to the one-year anniversary. Ex. 21 (August 6, 2014 letter requesting Plaintiffs' deposition). Plaintiffs' counsel never responded to the request.

28. Subsequent to the August 6, 2014 letter, State Farm learned that the September 2014 trial dates that Plaintiffs' counsel had argued rendered them unavailable for depositions before the one-year anniversary of this case had also been stricken. Ex. 22 (Docket Sheet – Gabriel Becerra v. Farmers Insurance Company, Case No. CJ-2013-1051, parties announced not ready for trial on August 19, 2014, case continued); Ex. 23 (Docket Sheet – David Cospes v. Farmers Insurance Company, Case No. CJ-2013-1171, parties announced not ready for trial on August 19, 2014, case continued). The same day, counsel for State Farm again requested immediate dates for Plaintiffs' depositions prior to the one-year anniversary. Ex. 24 (August 22, 2014 letter requesting Plaintiffs' deposition). Plaintiffs' counsel did not respond to that request either.

29. On September 8, 2014, State Farm's counsel sent a letter to Plaintiffs' counsel, noting the continuances of Plaintiffs' counsel's trial dates and that their allegedly busy trial schedule had been the sole rationale for refusing to proceed with depositions. Ex. 25. As no response to requests for depositions had been made, the letter enclosed an amended deposition notices for Plaintiffs to take place on September 24, 2014. Id.

30. On September 22, 2014, without ever providing an alternative date for the depositions, Plaintiffs' counsel filed a Motion to Quash the Depositions. Exhibit 26. In the Motion to Quash, Plaintiffs' counsel claimed the date was "not agreeable" and stated that in any event, “Defendants will likely attempt to remove this matter.” Id. at 2-3. Plaintiffs did not appear for the deposition on September 24, 2014. Ex. 27.

31. “[F]ederal courts must vigilantly protect a defendants’ right to proceed in federal court against abuses and manipulations by the plaintiff.” Anderson v. Ford Motor Co., 303 F. Supp. 2d 1253, 1258 (W.D. Okla. 2004) (internal quotations omitted). “Federal courts may and should take such action as will defeat attempts to wrongfully deprive parties entitled to sue in the Federal courts of the protection of their rights in those tribunals.” Id. (internal quotations omitted).

32. Plaintiffs here have attempted to deprive State Farm of its right to have this case heard by a federal court. They did so first by fraudulently joining a non-diverse defendant against whom Plaintiffs have no possibility of establishing a cause of action, and then by obstructively refusing to cooperate in the scheduling of their depositions in order to run the clock on the one-year deadline for State Farm to remove the case. These are exactly the kinds of abuses and manipulations that federal courts must guard against.

33. The thirty-day period for State Farm to remove this case did not begin until State Farm was able “to intelligently ascertain removability.” Huffman, 194 F.3d at 1078 (internal quotations omitted). Federal courts have broadly interpreted what may constitute an “other paper” that allows the defendant to ascertain removability. Id. (discussing cases). For example, information elicited during a deposition may serve the purpose. Id. On July 21, 2014, at the hearing in which Plaintiffs’ counsel took the position that (1) State Farm did not need to depose the Plaintiffs in order to establish fraudulent joinder and that (2) State Farm was “entitled to remove” this action without taking that deposition, the Court refused to compel Plaintiffs' depositions. When State Farm subsequently learned that Plaintiffs' counsel's trial calendar had completely cleared, however, State Farm re-served notices for the depositions of Plaintiffs so that it could develop the factual record to demonstrate fraudulent joinder. Plaintiffs nevertheless failed to appear for the deposition, and filed a Motion to Quash, making clear their intention not to produce the Plaintiffs for a deposition prior to the one-year anniversary of the filing of their Complaint. Plaintiffs' Motion to Quash – and their subsequent non-appearance at the noticed depositions – establish Plaintiffs' intent to stand on their counsel's stated position that State Farm does not need to depose Plaintiffs in order to establish fraudulent joinder and is "entitled to remove" this action without taking those depositions, thereby allowing State Farm to intelligently ascertain removability. State Farm is filing this Notice of Removal within thirty days of the date of its receipt of Plaintiffs' Motion to Quash and their failure to appear for their depositions.

34. State Farm submits that the facts set forth below and the continued refusal of Plaintiffs' counsel to make Plaintiffs available for deposition, when viewed in conjunction with the concessions made by Plaintiffs' counsel at the aforementioned July 21, 2014 hearing and confirmed with respect to Plaintiffs in their Motion to Quash, establish the fraudulent joinder of Defendant Chowins, and therefore the removability of this action. To the extent the Court believes that a further evidentiary showing is required to establish fraudulent joinder, the record is clear that State Farm has been deprived of the opportunity to make that showing by Plaintiffs' deliberate and improper refusal to allow State Farm to depose Plaintiffs within a year of the filing of their Complaint.

Accordingly, State Farm requests that it be permitted to take Plaintiffs' depositions prior to any ruling by this Court on the issue of fraudulent joinder.

FRAUDULENT JOINDER - FRAUD AND CONSTRUCTIVE FRAUD

35. Plaintiffs' constructive fraud claim against Defendant Chowins is legally insufficient because there is no duty to "notify" an insured about the "nature" of the insurance purchased. Oklahoma law is clear that "insurance companies and their agents do not have a duty to advise an insured with respect to his insurance needs." Rotan v. Farmers Ins. Group of Cos., Inc., 83 P.3d 894, 895 (Okla. Civ. App. 2004); Cosper v. Farmers Ins. Co., 309 P.3d 147, 149 (Okla. Civ. App. 2013) (holding no duty to provide an "adequate amount" of coverage); Mueggenborg v. Ellis, 55 P.3d 452, 453 (Okla. Civ. App. 2002) (holding no statutory or common law duty to advise as to amount of insurance); Silver v. Slusher, 770 P.2d 878, 882 n.11 (Okla. 1988) (holding no duty to explain coverage terms to insured). Chowins has no duty under Oklahoma law to "notify" Plaintiffs about the "nature and character" of their insurance or to provide "appropriate and adequate coverage."

36. In addition, Plaintiffs' constructive fraud claim against Chowins is legally insufficient because it rests upon alleged statements regarding the future performance of the policy. See Ex. 1 ¶ 42. Under Oklahoma law, a misrepresentation "must be regarding existing facts and not to future events." Slover v. Equitable Variable Life Ins. Co., 443 F. Supp. 2d 1272, 1282 (N.D. Okla. 2006) (quoting Hall v. Edge, 782 P.2d 122, 128 n.4 (Okla. 1989)). Plaintiffs also cannot reasonably be said to have "relied" on the alleged misrepresentations because the Policy itself clearly discloses the scope and terms of the Policy's replacement cost coverage. Under Oklahoma law, Plaintiffs had a duty to read their Policy and to know its terms and conditions. Id. at 1282-83 (dismissing fraud and negligence claims because the policy expressly contradicted the allegedly fraudulent and/or negligent statements). "An action for fraud may not be predicated on false statements when the allegedly defrauded party could have ascertained the truth with reasonable diligence." Bankers Trust Co. v. Brown, 107 P.3d 609, 614 (Okla. Civ. App. 2004) (quoting Silver, 770 P.2d at 881).

37. Plaintiffs' fraud claim also fails because it is based on an event that never occurred – the total loss of Plaintiffs' house. Plaintiffs have not alleged that their house was totally destroyed (because it was not) or that it would cost more to replace the dwelling than the face amount of the Policy. The replacement cost of Plaintiffs' house is not at issue in this case. Therefore, they cannot reasonably be said to have relied on the alleged statements regarding the replacement cost of the dwelling, nor could they have been "damaged" by them.<sup>3</sup>

FRAUDULENT JOINDER - NEGLIGENCE/NEGLIGENT PROCUREMENT

38. The negligence claims against Chowins are likewise legally insufficient because an agent has no duty under Oklahoma law to advise an insured regarding insurance needs or to monitor a policy for "appropriate" coverage. Further, the unambiguous terms of the Policy, including the amount of stated coverage, directly

<sup>3</sup> In any event, the sole remedy for that cause of action would be premium reimbursement under 36 O.S. § 4804; Scoufos v. State Farm Fire and Cas. Co., 41 P.3d 366, 370 (Okla. 2001) (unless Plaintiff alleges a total destruction of their property – which is a precondition to recovery under the statute – her claims would fail on the face of the Complaint).

contradict the generically alleged negligent oral statements and actions by Chowins.<sup>4</sup> The Policy clearly sets forth in the provision entitled “Loss Settlement” that Defendant’s payment obligations are on an actual cash value basis until the insured repairs or replaces the damaged property and submits a claim for the difference. Ex. 28 at 11-12. Both federal and state courts in Oklahoma have held that such provisions are enforceable. See, e.g., Truesdell v. State Farm Fire and Cas. Co., 960 F. Supp. 1511 (N.D. Okla. 1997); Bratcher v. State Farm Fire and Cas. Co., 961 P.2d 828 (Okla. 1998)

39. Oklahoma law provides that “[a]n applicant for insurance, who accepts a policy the provisions of which are plain, clear, and free from all ambiguity, is chargeable with knowledge of its terms and legal effect.” National Fire Ins. Co. of Hartford v. McCoy, 239 P.2d 428, 430 (Okla. 1951); see also Slover v. Equitable Variable Life Ins. Co., 443 F. Supp. 2d 1272 (N.D. Okla. 2006). (“It is well established under Oklahoma law that insureds have a duty ‘to examine, read, and know the contents of the policy before accepting and paying the premium therefor, and, having failed or neglected to do so [,they are] estopped from denying knowledge of its terms or conditions.’”) (quoting Liverpool & L. & G. Ins. Co. v. T.M. Richardson Lumber Co., 69 P. 936, 937 (Okla. 1902)).

FRAUDULENT JOINDER – BREACH OF FIDUCIARY DUTY

40. Plaintiffs’ claim for breach of fiduciary duty must fail because Oklahoma does not recognize a fiduciary duty by an insurance agent to an insured. See Swickey v.

Silvey Cos., 979 P.2d 266, 269 (Okla. Civ. App. 1999) ("There are no Oklahoma cases holding that an insurance agent owes a fiduciary duty to a prospective insured, or to an established customer with respect to procurement of an additional policy."); Slover v. Equitable Variable Life Ins. Co., 443 F. Supp. 2d 1272 (N.D. Okla. 2006).

FRAUDULENT JOINDER - STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

41. It is well established under Oklahoma law that insureds have a duty "to examine, read, and know the contents of the policy before accepting and paying the premium therefor, and, having failed or neglected to do so [, they are] estopped from denying knowledge of its terms or conditions." Liverpool & L. & G. Ins. Co. v. T.M. Richardson Lumber Co., 69 P. 936, 937 (1902). Plaintiffs applied for the policy at issue here in 2001 and could have rejected, amended, or modified it if it did not meet their expectations. Ex. 29 (Application demonstrating policy purchased in 2001). They did none of those things. Rather, Plaintiffs elected to keep the policy, and are therefore deemed to have been on notice of the policy's terms since 2001.

42. All Plaintiffs' claims against Chowins are subject to a two-year statute of limitations. 12 O.S. § 95. Thus, all the statute of limitations applicable here would have expired in 2003.

43. State Farm files contemporaneously herewith all pleadings or other documents on file in the State Court matter (Exhibit 31 - 59), including a copy of the Court's docket sheet, attached hereto as Exhibit 30, with the exception of the Plaintiffs' Complaint attached hereto as Exhibit 1, the Summons served upon State Farm and Chowins attached hereto as Exhibit 2, Defendants' Motion to Dismiss Plaintiffs' Original Petition and Subject to Same, Original Answer and Demand for Jury Trial, attached hereto as Exhibit 6, and Plaintiffs' Motion to Quash Deposition Notice, attached hereto as Exhibit 26.

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, STATE FARM FIRE AND CASUALTY COMPANY, Defendant, pursuant to and in conformity with the requirements set forth in 28 U.S.C. § 1446, removes Doyle Watts and Wynona Watts, husband and wife, v. State Farm Fire and Casualty Company and Jim Chowins, Case No. CJ-2013-1355, in the District Court of Cleveland County, State of Oklahoma, on this, the 25th day of September, 2014.
